Product Profile: Potters Collection

Steelite International offers an array of covered and single serve concepts that will help execute your vision with additional measures for safety and hygiene. The Potters Collection is just one of them. Designed by the Australian potter Robert Gordon, the brand was developed over 70 years ago, and three generations. The Potters Collection stands for craftsmanship and quality, key attributes for all tableware in today's ever-changing dining environment.

With an extremely strong and durable porcelain body, the Potters Collection stacking plates and bowls are ideal for serving stacked individual dishes or sharers to tables and great for stacking back of house. These trendy straight sided round trays make the most of the plating surface, perfect for every presentation. With the added benefit of being freezer, oven, microwave, and dishwasher safe, these stacking items are the perfect solution for any hotel dining environment.

Blending heritage with innovation, the two colours feature a distinct finish, with Pier encompassing a neutral taupe and Storm using an intense blue.

Designed to work with the smallest Potters Collection stacking bowl and plate, the new Rantang carrier provides a new way of delivering food to the table or to individuals. With applications in conference room dining, in-room dining, patio/outdoor dining, tapas and sharing, the Rantang carrier allows for up to three bowls to be stacked and served at any one time. This is not only a solution that looks great, but it is practical and versatile too.
